

TRAUMA MAKE-UP TUTORIAL

FROM THE ARTIST:

Always make your model's or your face is clean before you begin. Also make sure they are not allergic to any of the products or supplies you are using. This is meant to be fun and we don't want anyone really getting hurt!

DEEP CUT

STEP 1: PLACEMENT

1. Find a nice clean area where you want your cut to go, for this tutorial we will be using out model's face.
2. Use the popsicle stick to scoop some wax onto your finger and blend it onto the site.

STEP 2: MOLDING...

1. Use the tip of your finger to smooth out the edges. Leave a good portion untouched in the center. Take the popsicle stick and lightly strike across the wax to shape an incision.

Optional: Use the tip of your finger to scoop out some Vaseline and smooth it onto the wax site.

STEP 3: TIME FOR COLOR

- 1 Pick a dark color from the wheel (purple) and brush it into the wound, then use red on and around the incision. Make the wax area around the wound look inflamed and agitated. Do not worry about blending as the dark color will add depth.

Tip: Make this look chaotic, if it's too uniform it won't look quite right!
